B. EVALUATIVE CRITERIA

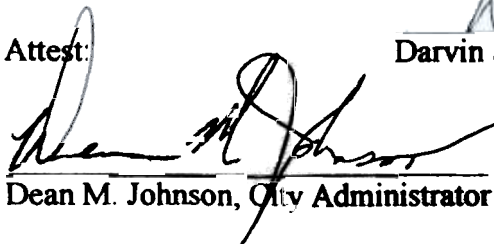

The following evaluative criteria recognize that the award of a business subsidy may serve a variety of public purposes of varying importance depending upon the specific project facilitated by the subsidy. The City may disregard any evaluative criterion it determines to be either irrelevant or unimportant in the case of a particular project, as permitted by the Act. The City hereby expresses its support of the business subsidies that meet the below-listed criteria. However, the City reserves the right to approve or reject the use of business subsidies for new commercial or industrial projects and or the rehabilitation and /or expansion of businesses already within the City on an individual basis. The criteria or goals to be taken into consideration by the City are as follows:

1. If a redevelopment project, the project will remove, prevent or reduce slums and/or blight, thereby protecting property values and the general public health, safety, and welfare.
2. The use of business subsidy is necessary to retain and/or attract competitive and financially sound and healthy commercial and industrial companies that provide significant employment potential and opportunity to broaden the tax base.
3. If a commercial business, the business cannot be in direct competition with existing commercial businesses. Business subsidy for retail businesses should encourage the provision of services currently not offered in the community.
4. The project must be generally consistent with the City's Comprehensive Plan.
5. The use of the business subsidy should encourage quality construction and promote the highest and best use of land.
6. The project will not significantly and adversely increase the impacts on existing service needs in the City.
7. The project proposed is generally compatible with the City's overall development plans and objectives and with those of the area for which the project is to be located.
8. The project must meet all pollution and environmental requirements of both the federal and state governments.
9. The business subsidy for commercial projects should encourage substantial redevelopment of substandard properties.
10. The project should result in a net job increase through either the creation or retention of jobs.
11. Whether and to what extent the project will utilize existing infrastructure capacity and/or require additional publicly funded infrastructure investments.
12. Consideration regarding the growth potential of the project based on the recipient's market studies or plans for expansion.

The City, when considering projects that request assistance, will base their decision on the merits of the project and its economic benefit to the community (i.e. the jobs which will result from the project). The City will also consider the contributions that the project makes to the community's overall development plan and how it complements existing services and businesses.
